About the GTTR

The Graduate Teacher Training Registry (GTTR) is an admissions service operated by UCAS that processes over 50,000 applications each year for around 1,500 full-time and part-time postgraduate teacher training courses at

- most universities, colleges of higher education and school-centred initial teacher training (SCITT) consortia in England
- most universities and colleges of higher education in Wales
- all higher education institutions (HEIs) in Scotland, except the University of the West of Scotland.

We refer to all the above institutions as 'training providers' in this report.

Each year more than 20,000 students enter postgraduate teacher training by applying through the GTTR.

On successful completion of a course in the GTTR scheme, training providers in England and Wales award a Postgraduate or Professional Graduate Certificate in Education (PGCE) and training providers in Scotland award a Professional Graduate Diploma in Education (PGDE).

Almost all courses in the GTTR scheme lead to the award of Qualified Teacher Status (QTS) required to teach in state schools in England and Wales or the Teaching Qualification (TQ) needed to teach in Scotland.

We do not deal with applications for teacher training courses at any universities or colleges in Northern Ireland. For information about teacher training in Northern Ireland, visit www.deni.gov.uk

The GTTR application process

Most postgraduate teacher training courses start in September each year. Applicants apply from October one year before they want to start a course. They use Course Search on our website www.gttr.ac.uk to find out about all the courses in the GTTR application system and then apply online through our website using the Apply system. They must obtain a referee's reference before they can pay for their application and send it to us. Applicants are only allowed to make one application in each application cycle.

Courses in the GTTR application system specialise in training to teach in primary schools, secondary schools or further education colleges. Applicants can apply for up to four courses, including no more than two primary teaching courses. They list their course choices in order of preference and we send applications to one training provider at a time for consideration. Applicants follow the progress of their applications and reply to offers using the online Track service at www.gttr.ac.uk. When an applicant accepts an offer, we do not send their application to any further training providers for consideration.

From mid-March to the end of June, applicants who have not accepted an offer and who have no more choices where they can be considered become eligible to use the Extra process. In Extra applicants use Track to apply online for one further course at a time.

From 1 July, applicants who have not accepted an offer and have no more choices where they can be considered are entered into our Clearing system. Applicants who have not obtained a place using the Extra process are also entered into Clearing. In Clearing, applicants can contact any training providers that still have vacancies on suitable courses. Any new applications we receive after the end of June are entered directly into Clearing.

Applicants who do not obtain a place at the end of one application cycle can reapply for the following year. The 2013 GTTR application cycle was the last one to be offered; for 2014 entry applications opened in November 2013 using a new scheme - UCAS Teacher Training. More information about the scheme is on the UCAS website: www.ucas.com/teacher-training.

The figures in Table C1 above only include students who are training to teach French, German, Italian, Mandarin, Spanish or Urdu as a single or main language at secondary level. Students who are training to teach more than one modern language at secondary level or to teach modern languages at primary level are not included in the above figures.

See Table C for the total number of students training to teach modern languages at secondary level.

There have been no acceptances to courses for Japanese or Russian and therefore these columns have been removed from Table C1.

''-' means a cell count of 0, 1 or 2.

Numbers of accepted applicants for subject conversion courses by training provider

Notes:

† These are applicants whose applications were received at the GTTR after 30 June 2013 and were entered directly into Clearing. No course choices are recorded for these applicants, so if they subsequently withdrew their application or were unplaced at the end of the application cycle, it was not possible to include them in the figures for secondary teaching subjects, primary or middle years teaching. Applicants who went directly into Clearing and obtained a place have been included in the acceptance figures for the appropriate secondary teaching subject, primary or middle years teaching.

Label changed from 'Information Technology' to reflect the fact that the majority of courses in 2013 were titled 'Computer Science'.

There have been no accepted applicants or applications to courses classified as 'Environmental Science' and therefore this column have been removed from Table H3.

Table H3 covers all courses within the GTTR scheme to which an application or acceptance was made including a small number of subject conversion courses.

'-' means a cell count of 0, 1 or 2.
