

Statement on A-levels and GCSE reforms

Teesside University will accept the newly structured A-level and GCSE qualifications.

We do not plan to make major changes to our programme entry requirements, but course leaders for each programme will review the content and the assessment specifications for the courses. Where we may need to make some specific adjustments to our programme entry requirements, these will be included in our course information for 2017 entry.